Winner – Healthcare & Life Sciences, United Kingdom

Lincoln Tsang is widely acknowledged for his ability to distil complex and technically challenging issues into creative and practical legal solutions for clients in both contentious and non-contentious matters concerning the life sciences and healthcare sectors.

By ministerial appointment, Dr Tsang serves as a non-executive member of the UK Health Protection Agency Regulatory Oversight Committee, and is a commissioner of the British Pharmacopoeia Commission, where he is chair of the Biologicals and Biotechnology Sub-committee and vice chair of the Nomenclature Sub-committee. He has also been a non-executive board member of the National Institute for Biological Standards and Control.

Dr Tsang was a senior official of the UK regulatory authority for nearly 13 years. During his tenure he took a leading role in developing certain key UK and European legislative initiatives and regulatory policies. He has been an adviser to the World Health Organisation, the Council of Europe and the European Commission.

What clients said

“Lincoln brings his prior agency experience and practical and scientific expertise to bear on cutting-edge problems, and has unparalleled credibility in advancing legal/scientific argumentation and acting before regulatory agencies.”

“He readily assists clients in developing strategies for product research and development, as well as risk and crisis management. It goes without saying that Lincoln is a leader in pharmaceutical law.”

“Dr Tsang is proactively on the lookout for changes in legislation that may impact on clients’ interests and can apply these in a user-friendly, proportionate way, without over-lawyering.”

“He is one of the few external lawyers that I have no qualm in having speak directly to the business, as he is practical, speaks in plain and understandable language, and understands the commercial realities.”
